Intro

Capo fret 2

s. guit.

The Intro section is written for a single guitar. It features a treble clef and a 4/4 time signature. The melody is composed of eighth and sixteenth notes, with some chords. The bass line is indicated by fret numbers on a six-line staff. The notation includes various techniques such as bends, slurs, and accents. The key signature has one sharp (F#).

A

Section A is the first main body of the piece. It continues the melodic and harmonic themes established in the Intro. The notation includes a variety of guitar-specific symbols like 'P' for palm mute, 'Hit' for a small finger tap, and 'x' for a thumb tap. The bass line is clearly marked with fret numbers.

This block shows the continuation of Section A, starting from measure 7. It features more complex rhythmic patterns and guitar techniques, including slurs and accents, maintaining the piece's energetic feel.

This block shows the final part of Section A, starting from measure 10. It concludes with a series of fast, rhythmic patterns and a final chord. The notation includes various guitar-specific symbols like 'P' for palm mute, 'Hit' for a small finger tap, and 'x' for a thumb tap.

The musical score for "The End" by The Doors is presented in a standard musical notation format. The guitar part is written in treble clef with a key signature of one sharp (F#). The melody is characterized by a series of eighth and sixteenth notes, often beamed together. The lyrics "The End" are written below the melody. The score includes a guitar tablature at the bottom, which uses numbers 1-5 to indicate fret positions. The tablature is aligned with the corresponding notes in the melody. The score is divided into measures by vertical bar lines, and the key signature is indicated by a sharp sign on the F line.
